MedHub Resident Rotation Services Key Consolidation Project
• Stanford Health Care receives more than $115 million annually for the Graduate Medical Education,
  - $75 million from Medicare for training residents at Hospital campus and clinics
  - $40 million from affiliates for training residents at their sites
• Reimbursement is mainly based on the services key locations where the residents receive the training
• In addition, Medicare requires the cost center (SHC departments) associated with services key locations
• Currently MedHub has over 3,000 services keys of which many of them are duplicates due to inconsistent naming convention for the same location/department
  • e.g. ER, ER/CON, ED, US/ED
• None of the services key was linked to SHC departments (cost centers)
• The cost center for each services key on Medicare cost report was assigned based on best available source, which may not be 100% accurate.
Objectives

• To effectively manage and maintain services keys. It is necessary to consolidate the duplicated services keys.

• This will improve Medhub process for Programs Coordinators, GME office, and Medicare cost report preparation.

• This will also improve the quality of the cost report by having cost center assigned to each services key.

• This project will have impact for multiple cost report years from 2009 and forward.
